"Today's Children - Tomorrow's World" Event On the U.S. Capitol Lawn and National Mall September 11, 2002

Dear Ambassador:

On September 11, 2002, our organizations (Global Mothers, American Mothers, The Institute of Multi-track Diplomacy, Mothers Group, Youth News Network, Friendship House, and Airline Ambassadors) will be co-sponsoring an event titled "Today's Children - Tomorrow's World" event on the U.S. Capitol Lawn and National Mall (see attached event program). The focus of this event is bringing forward children's wishes, hopes, feelings, dreams and projects for peace. Our intention in assisting this to happen is to help create a world where all children everywhere are safe and at peace.

For this event, the children of Washington, DC are creating a structure called a "Global House of Peace". This will be comprised of wooden building blocks, signed by country leaders, dedicating January 1st as an annual day of nonviolence and sharing food in their country. We are asking that you present the pledge below to your country leader for signature, and to please return it to us by August 25, 2002 to be transferred onto your country's block as the children and congressional leaders build the House of Peace. We expect major media to be covering this event, so it will be easy to see which country leaders are first in their commitment to creating a peaceful world for all children.

Children spearheaded the successful effort for January 1st being declared "One Day of Peace and Sharing" in the United States. The US congressional resolution was passed unanimously on December 15, 2000 (see attachment); and subsequently, recommended by the United Nations General Assembly to member nations (56/2) in October 2001. Here is what one of the children of Washington has written: "We learned what it is like to be attacked on September 11th, and we want to help stop the hate and the suffering and the hunger of everybody. If we can be just like One Big Family, one day every year, maybe it will help us learn to love each other. Please, president, or king, or queen, sign this and tell all the children in your country about this special day."

We have three related requests for our September 11th event:

1. Can you please designate a child and a mother to represent your country at the event to show international solidarity on that day.
2. We would also welcome your embassy co-hosting this children's event. Please call us for details.
3. For the Children's Cloth of Many Colors, our intention is to display at least one square from children in every country for this event. We welcome your participation. Directions are attached to make the cloth.

Please return the attached form by August 25 to: Gerry Eitner, 5500 Holmes Run Parkway, #308, Alexandria, VA 22304 or by fax 703-751-2726. If you have any questions, please call Gerry Eitner at 703-751-7823. We appreciate your encouragement of the children.

One Day In Peace January 1, 2000!

Dear Ambassador,

Thank you for all that you are doing to create a more peaceful, just and sustainable world for us all. The United Nations is our greatest hope for a brighter future.

Thank you also for your nation's support of Resolution 52-15 declaring the Year 2000 as the International Year for the Culture of Peace and Resolution 53-25 declaring the first decade of the 21st century for the culture of peace. What better way to begin the year 2000 - a monumental year of education and transformation for a better world than with a worldwide day of peace. For four years we have been working to gain popular support for One Day In Peace, January 1, 2000 - the idea of working together for humanity's first day of peace, ever. To date, more than 1000 non-governmental organizations in over 130 nations are co-sponsoring this global campaign. In addition, we have received letters of support from 28 Heads of State or other national representatives.

With 75 days until January 1, 2000, this campaign needs your support. With your endorsement, the co-sponsoring non-governmental organizations in your nation can better spread this message of hope for a new beginning of local and global cooperation for a better world, and we will be able to gain more attention for this universal goal on the International level. Together we can begin a New Millennium in the spirit of peace, friendship and understanding.

May Peace Prevail On Earth,
